Gelation of aqueous dextran in bulk and in thin films. Gelation of aqueous dextran in bulk is achieved in less than 60s at room temperature or at 45 degrees C. The degree of substitution of the dextran molecule is an important control factor of the dynamics of gelation. No clear molecular-weight dependence of the gelation kinetics is observed; the gelation of the bulk solution is faster at 45 degrees C than at room temperature. The size of the dextran aggregates in the gel is about 2 microns, however, and the large number of hyd

What's new:

Concept: Trainers in F1 can now use the concept of 'Weapon and Armour' to train their pilots. The Weapons and armors used are shown in the above picture(click to zoom). You can use your weapons and armour directly on a pilot to fire it. But for BFTO it is mainly used in my game, mission training, tally shoot/score and when you go to a locker after a mission, ie, lockers on the ship with armors, etc. This also effects player death. If you are training for a mission without any armors, for example...you will die with you weapons. If you have an Armor, the pilot will exit with the armors on. Weapons can be damaged during training so if you take a fatal shot, the weapon will also be disabled for the remainder of the training....but the pilot can still use the armors. It just won't be available for the remainder of training. You can also 'Fast-fall' your pilot by setting the 'trigger speed' to 1...and the pilot will drop out without an armors. So think fast. Good Luck (Also...you can activate any weapon or armor instantly by recalling the training, ie, letting right click the target with the weapon or armor) - Fixed a bug where your weapons can damage the X-Trails, or other shuttles...This can happen when they collide directly. Now the X-Trail won't be harmed by your weapons. - Marksmanship: Add the same weapons and armors to the ranking list like in the actual missions. Like the other missions, some of the weapons can be different depending on the difficulty level and mission rules. eg...Hawk's Lockers have the same names in Hard vs Easy when training. (You don't choose the mission depending on difficulty) - Training Multiplayer: You can now customize your "Training" multiplayer, these weapons and armors are just re-placed on your players stations.ie: You can play unlimited solo training by buying the weapons/armors with real money, or this is not fixable yet. So, the same weapons as [CHAMPION] and [LEVEL] are used. Multiplayer Training also comes with "restart" update. If you don't know what this is, you can find it when you log into Multiplayer

Training. - If a character entered a 'Training' mission without tools, armors, etc, and you have this
