A case of glomerulocystic kidney with monoclonal IgG paraproteinemia. A patient was studied with persistent renal proteinuria. Renal biopsy disclosed 40% of glomeruli with multiple cysts in the glomerular mesangium. Immunofluorescence study demonstrated a granular deposition of IgG in the cysts. The patient's serum also contained monoclonal IgG, which was eluted with the patient's serum by diethylaminoethyl cellulose and PEG. The coincidence of renal cystic lesion with the monoclonal IgG suggests the glomerulocystic kidney which is associated with monoclonal IgG./ *
