Portable WBS Chart Pro 4.7.7z

i purchased my first portable chart at the age of 16 and have used it ever since. the chart has been through 3 handbags and a few moves, used in all kinds of weather, and is still going strong. the chart can be folded, rolled, taped, and even cut to fit in most any size carry-on bag or backpack. all charts are printed on durable, waterproof paper that is free from toxins. portable charts are available in a wide variety of sizes and shapes to fit the needs of any boater. note: some charts come with velcro closure. if you prefer to use a zipper, we can supply an additional velcro closure for an additional $3.50. over the years i have spent a lot of time trying to find a portable chart that i could trust and liked. in my opinion no one has ever done it quite right. most charts seem to be either too large to be easily portable or too small to be accurate. i am proud to say that i have now found a portable chart that i can trust! i started with the 70cm wbs series chart that i had used for years. i absolutely love the new portable chart. i only wish they had it in other sizes! i highly recommend you take a look! the new portable wbs series chart is a top of the line chart that you can take anywhere. with the chart printed on waterproof paper and packaged in a sturdy, easy to carry case you can be confident that it will stay dry and in good condition for years to come. the chart is printed on a sturdy paper with a water resistant finish that will stand up to the elements. in fact, the chart will withstand extreme weather better than most chart boxes. the portable wbs chart is a top of the line chart that you can take anywhere. with the chart printed on waterproof paper and packaged in a sturdy, easy to carry case you can be confident that it will stay dry and in good condition for years to come. the chart is printed on a sturdy paper with a water resistant finish that will stand up to the

i love all the growth charts that i have seen, but they were all for the us and other countries where children grow a foot a month. my son is only 4ft tall. he is 4 and still growing and the chart looks like it is about ready to burst. i was wondering if you would be kind enough to send me a us growth chart to cover the year? i want to keep the chart in a protective covering and not have to worry about the chart being damaged. i would also love to know which chart you used for the small print. i am looking for a good growth chart. i am a young mom and my daughter is only 5 1/2 but she just keeps growing so i want to get her something she can use in the future when she is more like my children. i loved the idea of the family growth chart that you made. however, after much deliberation, i purchased your original, and now am wondering if it is possible to order a replacement cover to make the chart more durable? is there such a thing as a protective covering? i would also love to know the dimensions of the chart so i can see if it will work for my son. the growth chart i bought was just plain, and didn't have a zipper on the front.

it didn't need to be saved in a case, but i wanted it to be protected in some way. i'd also like to know the dimensions of the chart in case it's too big for my son's room. i love the growth chart that you made. i have an idea for another that will be even bigger, but i need to know what size the growth chart should be in case i'm making it too big. i also want to know the size of the chart. hi! i can't wait to make this! i've been looking for a diy to make a pretty, handmade gift for my sister and she loved the idea of the portable gride. i'm excited to try this out and get it done for my sister! thank you for sharing your awesome tutorial. have a lovely day!
